

BREMBO IS THE ONLY ITALIAN COMPANY TO EARN CDP'S DOUBLE A RATING FOR ENVIRONMENTAL LEADERSHIP

Based on the 2024 assessment, Brembo strengthened its leadership in climate change and water security, improving its performance year on year

Bergamo (Italy), 8 January 2026 – In the A List published today, Brembo has been recognized by CDP, the global non-profit organization, for its ongoing commitment to environmental sustainability. Brembo is the only Italian company to have achieved the double "A", the highest score in the categories of climate change and water resource management, based on the data presented in its latest Annual Report.

Brembo continues its sustainability path with significant results. Through projects like "Re-water" in Mexico, allowing treated wastewater to be reused to supply the company's production facilities, Brembo combines sustainability, economic efficiency and positive social impact. Thanks to the improvement in data quality and efficiency of the production processes, in 2024 company achieved 8% reduction of CO₂ emissions compared to the year before.

"We are proud to see an improvement in the CDP score achieved in 2025", said Andrea Rocco, Brembo's Chief Sustainability & Risk Officer. "Every year, CDP raises the bar with more stringent requirements, and this result confirms our continuous effort to meet these standards thanks to our commitment to environmental sustainability".

This achievement reflects a coordinated global effort: all Brembo plants across the 18 countries in which the Group operates contributed data, which was consolidated by a central multidisciplinary team of engineers, environmental scientists and chemists, ensuring the quality and accuracy of the information submitted.

CDP is a global non-profit that runs the world's only independent environmental disclosure system for companies, capital markets, cities, states and regions to manage their environmental impacts. CDP's annual analysis has become a global benchmark for transparency and environmental action, combining best-practice reporting standards and frameworks. In 2025, CDP assigned scores ranging from the lowest "D" to the highest "A" to the companies involved based on information submitted through its climate change, deforestation and water security questionnaires.
